Landskab i sne

Dette er et landskab skjult under is og sne. Former og strukturer dannet af dalende snefnug. Hele tiden under forandring. Sneen og isen forgår under solens stråler. Heftige storme river sneen op til hylende snestorme med hvirvlende snefnug, der trænger ind overalt.

Men det er også et landskab i ro. Denne hvide verden ligger ofte stille hen. De isbelagte fjorde og søer og de hvidklædte bjerge og dale har fundet en harmoni, som har eksisteret i en evighed. Det er et landskab fuld af ro.

Her i bjergenes vilde ensomhed brydes de snehvide flader kun af de blå fjorde og søer. De er dækket af is. Isens glatte overflade får sneen til at fyge bort. Elvene er stivnede i is. Det ser ud, som om disse istapper er skabt på få sekunder i et øjeblikks totale nedisning.

Det sted er det yderste land for menneskeheden. Kun få mennesker lever her på naturens nåde. Har der været spor af mennesker i dette øde landskab, er de for længst føjet til og dækket af nysneen.

Det her landskab føles så mægtigt, at det er svært at rumme det. De sneklædte bjergtinder og de snehvide dale vidner om, at naturen er større end mennesket. Naturen bestemmer også her.

Landscape in snow

This is a landscape hidden under ice and snow. Shapes and structures formed by falling snowflakes. Constantly changing. The snow and ice disappear under the rays of the sun. Violent storms tear up the snow to howling snowstorms with swirling snowflakes penetrating everywhere.

But it is also a landscape of peacefulness. This white world is often quiet. The icy fjords and lakes and the white-clad mountains and valleys have found a harmony, as if they have existed for an eternity. It is a landscape full of peace.

Here in the wild solitude of the mountains, the snow-white surfaces are only broken by the blue fjords and lakes. They are covered by the ice. The slippery surface of the ice causes the snow to drift away. The rivers are stiffened in ice. It looks as if these icicles are created in seconds in a moment of total glaciation.

This place is the outermost country of humanity. At the mercy of the nature few people live here. If there have been traces of people in this desolate landscape, they have long since been covered by the snow.

This landscape feels so powerful. It is hard to grasp it. The snow-capped mountain peaks and the snow-white valleys testify to the fact, that nature is greater than Man. Here, the nature rules, too.
