Øjeblikke i september

Dejlige dage i september. Sensommeren i Sydgrønland. Solens lune stråler lokker byens mennesker ud af deres huse. En snak med veninderne over en kop kaffe ved cafeens udendørs borde og bænke.

Børnene har fået fri fra skole. De hygger sig – hver på deres måde. Nogle knægte sidder med deres mobiltelefoner tæt på caféen. Den venlige caféejner giver gratis wifi til alle i og omkring caféen.

Atlantskibet blæser i dets horn ude på fjorden. Nu skal det alt for store skib manøvreres ind til den alt for lille kaj. Containerne skal losses, og inden lukketid er de første varer fra Danmark på plads i butikkernes hylder.

Stolte, nybagte mødre troner rask gennem byen med deres småbørn i barnevogn eller klapvogn. Der er gæster i byen. Turister flokkes omkring souvenirbutikken og nyder spadsereturen gennem byens gader. Gæsterne besøger også det lokale skindværksted.

En lokal fanger er lige ankommet med sin dyrebare fangst. Han har i sin lille båd været langt oppe mod nord for at skyde en moskusokse. På en presenning på kaj saver og skærer han det store dyr i tilpas kødlunser. Han ser træt men glad ud.

Alle synes glade og imødekommende. Der er plads til et smil til alle, når september vejret giver sol og varme.

Moments in September

Lovely days in September. Late summer in South Greenland. The warm rays of the sun lure the people of the town away from home. A chat with the girlfriends and a cup of coffee at the outdoor tables and benches outside the café.

The children have come home from school. They enjoy themselves – each in their own way. Some boys sit with their mobile phones close to the café. The friendly café owner provides free wifi to everyone in and around the café.

The Atlantic ship blows its horns out on the fjord. Now the oversized ship must be manoeuvred into the far too small quay. The containers will be unloaded, and before closing time, the first goods from Denmark are in place on the shelves of the stores.

Proud, new mothers walk through the town with their babies in a pram or pushchair. There are guests in the town. The tourists flock around the souvenir shop and enjoy the stroll through the streets of the town. The tourist also visit the local workshop of furs.

A local hunter has just arrived with his precious catch. In his small boat, he has been far up north shooting a musk ox. On a tarp on the quay, he saws and cuts the large animal into suitable meat chunks. He looks tired but happy.

All seems happy and welcoming. There is leaved room for a smile to everyone when the September weather provides sun and warmth.
